The Collector submitted to Government the total number of assessments was entered as 1874, representing

Rs. 11389; but subsequently one additional assessment of ten rupees was imposed in Class II. Out of the balance of three hundred and twenty five rupees, outstanding on the 31st March, seventy two rupees have been collected since then, — seventeen rupees are said to have been paid in, but there is a dispute about this item and the matter is under inquiry; — and, after full inquiry, two hundred and thirty six rupees have been reported to the Collector for sanction to write them off as irrecoverable. The Tax was collected without any difficulty in the Bidi and Sangamner Talukas. In the Parasgad Taluka, a considerable amount, not only of unwillingness to pay the Tax, but even of more active opposition to the collection of it, was shewn at the town of Lanadatte, and threat-ened at one time to extend to some others also of the larger towns. This, however, was stopped without much difficulty. In only one instance was

In six other cases the compulsory process went as far as the attach-ment of property; but the parties concerned then paid up the assess-ments, and, in order that the Law might be worked with as little unpleasantness as possible,
I considered it advisable to leave the property under attachment and to abstain from enforcing the penalties allowed by the Act.

After this all active opposition ceased, though the collection in this Taluka still continued for some time to be very slow. The number of appeals in the Bidi Taluka was, as is shewn by the results in the column of "Confirmed", unreasonably large; they came chiefly from the large trading towns of Khanapur, Nandigad, and Atsi; and appeared to me to have been to a great extent induced by the appellants having been somewhat too lightly dealt with in the preceding year. The following table contrasts the proceeds of the Tax for the year now under report with those for the preceding year:—

The reduction in the number and amount of original assessments in the Paraegad Taluka, as compared with those of the preceding year, was fully justified, as there is no doubt that this Taluka was originally considerably over-assessed. The other two Talukas were fairly

After this all active opposition ceased, though the collection in this Taluka still continued for some time to be very slow. The number of appeals in the Bidi Taluka was, as is shewn by the results in the column of "Confirmed", unreasonably large; they came chiefly from the large trading towns of Khanapur, Nandgad, and Halsi; and appeared to me to have been to a great extent induced by the appellants having been somewhat too lightly dealt with in the preceding year. The following table contrasts the proceeds of the Tax for the year now under report with those for the preceding year:—

The Mamlatdars have had all the works under constant supervision, and have made the quarterly inspections required by Rule 28. The other members of the Committees do not take any part in the supervision of works in progress; but some of them have made useful suggestions as to works to be carried out in the future.

25.— The planting of Roadside trees has been carefully attended to, with the results shewn below:—

The works which were entrusted for execution to the Taluka Committees are shewn in the following table:—

The trees in the Sampgaum and Paragad Talukas are all doing well, in different stages of advancement; but a few gaps, here and there, where trees have died, will have to be replanted. The western and southern parts of the Bidi Taluka are full of forest, and hardly require to be planted. But I found that there was an almost utter absence of roadside shade in the northern and eastern parts of this Taluka, and, on my recommendation, the Collector has sanctioned Rs. 1950-"-" for planting nineteen miles of the more important routes in that direction, together with four miles of road in the Belgaum Taluka which have been made a part of the same work under my supervision. The system that has hitherto been followed is that of planting cuttings and seedlings out at once in the places that the trees were to occupy. But this plan has been found somewhat too expensive and not altogether successful, and has now been abandoned in favour of the system of nurseries and transplanting detailed in the Honourable Mr. Ashburner's Circular No 1253 B of the 5th September 1875, endorsed by

The mortuary and other returns of a general statistical nature were examined at the time of examining the other village records. The registers of births and deaths were personally tested by me by inquiries of the Ryoto whenever they were present before me for the purpose of examining their Receiptbooks, and the results satisfied me that, on the whole, these returns are very fairly accurate; whenever any discrepancy was discovered, it invariably turned out, on further inquiry, that the parties concerned had omitted to give notice to the Village Accountant of the birth or death omitted in the Registers and I do not see how these returns are to be made absolutely correct and reliable unless the necessity of giving immediate notice of a birth or a death is made obligatory by law, and the omission to do so is made punishable summarily with a small fine on conviction before the nearest Magistrate. The subject of extramural burial and burning grounds has engaged attention, and there are now only a few villages in the Sampgaum Taluka unprovided with such accomodation.

32.— No special disease or epidemic has made its appearance during the year. But fever was particularly prevalent in the Sampgaum Taluka, and notably in the western and southern parts of it, and no fewer than three thousand fifty-four deaths from it cause occurred between the 1st July 1879 and the 31st May 1880.

VIII. — Education.

33. — The number of Schools in my Charge, and of School-houses specially erected for them, are shewn in the margin. It was found necessary to close the Hindustani Girls' School at Kittur in the Sampgaum Taluka as a separate School, and to make it a class in the Hindustani Boys' School; but, on the other hand, six new Boys' Schools were opened during the year, — at Jambotti and Murdi in the Bidi Taluka; at Govankop and Tapnur in the Sampgaum Taluka; and at Tallur

Remarks on the First Assistant Collector's Administration Report for the year 1879-80.

Para 5. With regard to the putting up to auction of the lands of ryots who have disappeared during the enquiry I would explain that in every case great care was taken before putting these lands up to public Auction, to ascertain if there were any relatives of the missing persons who were willing to take up the lands.

Para 6. The subject of these remissions has already been fully reported on by me. A final report will be submitted as soon as it is ascertained precisely what items are recoverable but they will be very small.

Para 9. Mr Fleet states that about Rs 2100. will have to be written off as irrecoverable. This sum represents the assessment for the current year on lands of absconded ryots, the rights of occupancy of which were sold up for the Para 11. The amount of land thrown out of cultivation in Paraged is somewhat startling, but the causes given by Mr. Fleet are doubtless the correct ones. It is to be feared that with the increased assessment, moderate though it is, under the Revision Survey, it will be some time before these lands are taken up again.

Para 13. Mr. Fleet accounts satisfactorily for not making a second examination of the Bedi Catching. When I examined it in April every thing was found in good order. Great attention is being paid to the sorting of the records in Paraged and periodical progress Returns are submitted to me.

Para 32. The number of deaths from fever in Sanpagaum is, if correct, perfectly appalling; I am much inclined to think that in

in many cases where the actual cause of death is not known the village accountants simply enter "fever" in the Returns, though the real cause may be other disease.

Para 34. My remarks regarding the work of preparing Watan Registers will be found in my own report.

The causes are shown in Appendix II and may be said to be principally lower biddings at the annual grass sales, relinquishment of lands, and lands having fallen waste in consequence of the ryots having absconded. The large amount of lands relinquished in the Gokak Talukas is probably due to the fact that the revised rates consequent on the new Survey of the Taluka will be introduced in 1880-81.

6. No remissions were granted on account of the current year's revenue but in the Gokak Taluka there was an outstanding balance, on account of previous years, of Rs 3406. This sum was ordered to be written off under the authority of paragraph 18 of Government Resolution No 2002 dated 9th June 188

7. During the year under report only one advance of takavi was made as shown in Appendix IV. This sum viz Rs 100 was granted for the purpose of repairing a well. As shown in the Appendix there was on 1st April 1879 an out-standing balance of Rs 2292:1:4 The amount collected up to 31st March 1880 was Rs 1627 1:4 leaving an

of the ryots having absconded.

This comparison extended over the months August to October in the Gokak Taluka and August to March in Belgaum. In addition Hugus Form No 3, has been duly compared in both Talukas month by month from August to May. June is at present under examination.
